Dairy Overview

Empty Case Room

Thiele Technologies has over 30 years experience in the design, manufacture, installation and start-up of complete empty dairy case handling and storage areas. From empty case return systems, to pallet and case washing into line distribution to the filling room, Thiele has a solution.

Our designs optimize floor space and incorporate the latest technology to maximize output and assure your empty case room will fulfill your manufacturing needs now and for years to come.

Thiele provides a completely automated system. A fork truck operator sets the pallet of empty cases into our depalletizer to put the individual stacks into the conveyor system. The pallets are sent into a washer for cleaning and restacking. After the stacks of cases are unstacked and washed, they are sent to the filling lines and monitored your demand never exceeds your supply.

If complete automation is a future consideration, Thiele can provide the equipment required to efficiently transfer empty cases.

Whether you're looking to replace individual machines or conveyor sections, Thiele has the capability to respond quickly. We'll fix individual areas of your empty case room to have you running more efficiently than ever.
